The Dineen property, at Wallingford Square is an example of past architecture.

Stop plans to allow destruction of it and encourage RENOVATION which could include apartment and a humane type shop downstairs.

You have already cramped and destroyed the view of our Rice Public Library with a monstrosity which has ruined the very foundation of an old local building.

We don't need another stinking meat laden shop polluting the air at Foreside.

Be careful what you promote, because you can now allow owners of old Dineen property to come to their senses and see the architecture worth preserving and otherwise renovate it, including a shop and apartment.

See the variety in Ogunquit Maine of homes converted into shop space.

And should you ever observe outside of USA the saved architecture which remains and is commercially useful, you would never admit to allowing another building in Kittery to be demolished. suzy courage johnson
