I live at 77 Chauncey Creek Road.

A stop sign on Chauncey Creek Road would be in front of my house and would not be helpful for traffic flow. What is needed are bike lanes and walking lanes and SPEED LIMIT 25 mph signs as people speed up both coming to and from Seapoint beach.

If a crosswalk was put at the intersection of Cutts Island lane and Seapoint road then I could see a yield sign would be a good idea.

The Cutts Island Lane stop sign replacing the yield sign would be fine but again walking and biking lanes are needed there as well.

As we come into summer the other problem is parking at the Rachel Carson on the weekends. There needs to be more parking area created there.

Last, due to climate change Chauncey Creek Road has started flooding at more and more high tides and the road needs to be raised another 8 inches on both sides of the causeway. More people live on Cutts Island year round and access to the island during a storm at high tide could pose fire and health issues for ambulance and fire vehicles.
