TRAINING

PORTSMOUTH NAVAL SHIPYARD, Maine – Portsmouth Naval Shipyard will conduct routine emergency response training Wednesday, Feb. 7.

Portsmouth Naval Shipyard is aware NextEra Energy Seabrook Station will also be conducting training on Feb. 7.

The shipyard's training is being conducted to ensure emergency response personnel are prepared, ready and trained to respond to emergency situations.

As part of this training, the shipyard will utilize the public address loudspeaker, known as the Giant Voice. No action is required by the public, as these Giant Voice transmissions are just part of the training.

Due to the location of the training, some members of the public may see emergency response personnel responding to this event.
